PRICE THREE CENTS

SURGEON AIDS EIGHT CHILDREN

Deformed Ones, From Babe in Arms to Youths in Teens, Attend Orthopedic Clinic.

NUMBER ARE HOPEFUL

Twenty Cases Considered Hopeful, But Only Eight Parents Consent to Have Operations on Children.

Thirty seven crippled and deformed children, ranging in age from a tiny babe in the arms of its mother to a youth in his teens, awaited the arrival of Dr. J. Torrence Rugh, orthopedic specialist, of Philadelphia, who arrived at the Warner hospital at 7:30 Wednesday evening to hold a two-day clinic for the deformed children in Gettysburg and Adams county, under the auspices of the Home Service Branch of the Adams County Red Cross.

Many of the children had been waiting since early in the afternoon and were restless and nervous as the hour set for the examination drew near. Parents from the extreme ends of the county brought their children before the surgeon in the hope that he might be able to do something to straighten the little crooked limbs.

Scene at the hospital was not a pathetic one for hope was the dominant feeling in the patients. Some could not walk and had never walked since babyhood; others were able to move about, but the effort required was shown in their youthful faces, and still others were so hopelessly crippled and deformed that walking was out of the question for them. It is the latter cases which the doctor is especially anxious to help.

Examination at Night
Preparatory to the examining of the children by Dr. Rugh, the hospital authorities took complete histories of the cases brought in. Some of the histories showed that the children had been crippled since birth while others were stricken during the infantile paralysis epidemics which swept the country.

Dr. Rugh was accompanied from Harrisburg by Dr. George Stull, an orthopedic specialist who has conducted clinics in town previous to this time. After a light supper served at the hospital, Dr. Rugh started upon examining the children.

Of the thirty seven examined until eleven o'clock, 20 cases in the opinion of Dr. Rugh are hopeful. With an operation, special braces and care these children could be greatly helped, according to Dr. Rugh. After examining all the children present including three who attended the clinic from Harrisburg, it was found that only Marshal Ferdinand Foch, generalissimo of the Allied Armies in the World War, will be invited to visit the Battlefield of Gettysburg as the guest of the borough, it was unanimously voted at the regular meeting of the Borough Council.

At the present time Marshal Foch is nearing the end of a 25,000-mile swing through the United States under the guidance of the American Legion. He is now in the state of Washington and is headed for New York. It is the hope of the Council to reach the great general through the French embassy at Washington and the invitation was dispatched there today. It would be possible for the Marshal to come to Gettysburg about December 12 or 13, it is believed.

Following is the resolution adopted by the Council:

"At a regular meeting of the Burgess and Borough Council of the borough of Gettysburg, Adams county, Pennsylvania, held December 7, 1921, it was moved and unanimously carried that

"The Burgess and Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg cordially and earnestly invite Marshal Ferdinand Foch, the great generalissimo of the Allied Armies in the World War and the commander of the greatest armed force ever assembled on earth to visit as our guest the Battlefield of Gettysburg, the greatest battle in the history of America and the decisive battle in the Civil War between the states.

"That a committee of three be appointed to extend this invitation to the great general and make all necessary arrangements for his proposed visit to our historic town and county."

President C. B. Dougherty appointed Charles H. Huber, Frank R. Peckman and James McDonnell a committee to extend the invitation.

Routine business occupied the attention of the Council through the greater part of their last regular meeting of the year. It was decided to hold a special meeting to conclude transaction for 1921 on Wednesday, December 28.

J. Donald Swope, representing the Gettysburg Water Company, appeared before the Council to ask that the Wa-

ADULT WORKERS HOLD MEETING

Almost 700 Present at Evening Session in St. James Sunday School Rooms.

INTERESTING SPEAKERS

Four Members of State Adult Bible Workers Address Audience at Afternoon and Evening Sessions.

Organized Adult Bible Class workers, class workers, teachers, officers, leaders, home department superintendents and workers and parents, numbering almost 700 gathered in the Sunday school room of St. James Lutheran Church, Wednesday evening, to attend the meeting of the "flying squadron" of the State Sabbath School Association, composed of W. C. Landes, general secretary of the state organization; W. E. Myers, adult Bible school superintendent; C. A. Blackmore, of the Erie City Mission, and his son Carroll, a pianist of note.

The services were of an evangelistic nature and were one of the most largely attended gatherings of its kind ever held in Gettysburg or Adams county. There were delegations from almost every congregation in the county and many phases of adult work in the Sunday schools were presented by the speakers.

The services were opened by devotional services conducted by Rev. W. C. Robinson and the singing of several familiar hymns by the congregation led by Mr. Blackmore.

Mr. Blackmore then addressed the audience on the duty the parents owe to their children in providing for them a christian home with christian surroundings.

Mr. Landes followed the talk of Mr. Blackmore with a stirring address on the subject of "Where there is no vision, the People Perish." Using this as his text, Mr. Landes stated that service and production go hand in hand and that if the present wave of laziness which is sweeping over the country could be turned to producing the necessities of life, the world would be happier and the people more contented.

"The service of the Organized Adult Bible Classes," said Mr. Landes, "is just as important in the home as in the church. In the American home, the Bible Classes aid in presenting the

HUNTING CLUBS TO PROTECT CAMPS

Action May be Taken as Result of Incendiary Fires Recently.

Owners of hunting camps in the South Mountains are planning to organize a protective association to safeguard their properties, according to a report sent to the Department of Forestry by District Forester Williams, of Caledonia. This action has been taken as a result of the incendiary fires that two weeks ago destroyed two camps in that region.

It is proposed to organize on plans similar to those protective associations which formerly flourished in the southern part of the State. Every hunting club and private camp owner in the region will be asked to become associated with the new movement.

The exhibit of the Department of Forestry was displayed at the Franklin and York Counties Teachers' Institutes. Assistant Forester Nicholas represented the Department at the exhibit in York.

Foresters Williams and Nicholas gave talks on forestry in the public schools in York and Cumberland Counties recently. The former also addressed the Rothrock Forest Club, at the State Forest Academy. He spoke on "Art in a Forester's Life."

NO NEW LIGHT AT HEARING

Fletcher Maintains Silence On Moonshine Activities Under Eagle.

No new developments were disclosed by the witnesses or the prosecution at a preliminary trial given John Fletcher, colored, Wednesday afternoon in the county jail, arrested on the charge of operating a still under the lobby of the Eagle Hotel.

J. Harry Holtzworth, clerk at the hotel, who first noticed the smell of the whisky in the lobby, testified to seeing Fletcher coming out of the disused part of the cellar in which the still was located on Sunday morning. He also related the actual finding of the still.

Privates John Leggoe and George Goucher, of the local State police station, told of their watching the still from Sunday morning until late Monday night but that the moonshiners failed to appear during their vigil.

C. E. Spangler, clerk in H. T. Maring's hardware store, also testified that a certain piece of wrapping paper exhibited in court was the same which he had wrapped around the coal oil stove sold Fletcher. He also identified Fletcher as the person to whom he had sold the stove and stated that Fletcher had bought and paid for it several days before taking it away.

After hearing the evidence, Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill held Fletcher under $1,000 bail for the next term of court. Fletcher was unable to furnish the bail, he said, and was locked up.

COUNTY AS POTATO GROWER

Total Yield This Year Estimated At 103,200 Bushels.

Adams county ranks high among the counties of the state as a potato grower, according to the figures made public by the State Department of Agriculture. Growers of the county produced 103,200 bushels, an average yield of 96 bushels to the acre.

This was not a favorable year for potatoes, though the crop is better than early forecasts indicated. Favorable weather late in the season improved the yield considerably. The total yield for the state is placed at 18,763,500 bushels. The crop last year was estimated at approximately 27,000,000 bushels. The ten-year average yield was approximately 22,300,000.

Lehigh county led the state with a production of 1,496,748 bushels.

THOMPSON NOT ARRESTED

William Thompson, whom it was said was locked up along with John Fletcher, charged with operating a still under the lobby of the Eagle Hotel, was not arrested, according to the authorities, but was only held as a material witness in the case.

Thompson has also been cleared of the charge of buying raisins at the American Stores.

SCANDALIS HELD AS RUM SMUGGLER

Friend Furnishes $20,000 Bail For His Release From Custody.

FIVE OF GANG ARRESTED

Greek is Charged With Landing Whiskey From Bahama Islands at Atlantic City During Summer.

Charged with having illegally landed several thousand cases of "Scotch" whisky at various points along the Atlantic coast line, Charles H. Scandalis, of Mechanicsburg, known for his escapades in this section, was arrested in Harrisburg at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and at a hearing later before United States Commissioner John A. F. Hall was held under $20,000 bail for the next session of Federal court in the Eastern District of New York.

Bail was later entered by Ferdinand Moeslein, Harrisburg, proprietor of a hotel there. Although Scandalis was not arrested until late Tuesday afternoon, he was under surveillance by Federal agents since his arrival there Sunday.

10,000 Cases Landed

Scandalis was paymaster of one of the largest gangs in the country engaged in wholesale liquor smuggling, according to John H. Clark, Assistant United States District Attorney of New York, on whose orders the arrest was made. The gang, five of which are now under arrest, is said to be responsible for the landing of more than 10,000 cases of bonded whisky from Nassau, Bahama Islands, at various points along the Atlantic coast.

Two Ships Seized

Scandalis is specially charged in the warrant with having landed 1,000 cases of liquor during March, 1921, from the schooner, "Henry L. Marshall," near East Rockaway, Long Island. He is also charged with having landed 2,410 cases during May, June and July at Montauk Point and Atlantic City. During the later part of July, Scandalis and the gang are claimed to have landed 4,500 cases in small boats from the schooner "Arethusa" near Montauk Point. Scandalis, according to the Federal agents, personally appeared at that time and supervised the landing of the liquor.

Both ships were seized by revenue agents some time ago and indictments secured in the New York Federal courts against six alleged members of the whisky gang. The others under arrest are William McCoy, Ben McCoy, Charles E. Asbury and John G. Grosland, all of Florida. The latter is said to be a millionaire while Albany is said to have been the owner of the boats.

ESCAPE DEATH BY TORPEDO TUBE

Crew of Submerged Undersea Craft Rescued After Long Wait.

NOSE DIVED TO BOTTOM

Men Succeed in Bringing One End to Surface. Burn Mattresses For Signal Lights.

(By Associated Press)
Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 8.—The new Lake submarine S-48 sank off this harbor last night and was submerged for 12 hours before the crew by lightening the ballast tanks raised one end of the craft to the surface and escaped through the torpedo tube.

Escape Through Tube

New York, Dec. 8.—Fifty one members of the crew of the submarine S-48 whose escape through the torpedo tube after their craft had made a nose dive off Bridgeport harbor yesterday and stuck to the bottom, told a remarkable story of rescue on their arrival today at the New York navy yard.

Perched on Pinnacle

According to the report made to the commandant, they lightened one end of the submarine until it appeared above the surface and then sat perched on this pinnacle for more than 10 hours until after darkness had fallen.

Mattresses as Signals

When night came on some of the fifty one officers, sailors and mechanics went down into the sunken craft and hauled out mattresses to burn in order to get a brighter signalling flare than tiny matches could give.

One by one the mattresses were burned at the tip of the upstanding bow, the fifty one sitting around their flaming signal. There was a stiff wind and the waters of the sound were becoming rough. Just as the last mattress was burning about 10:30 a Standard Oil tug was sighted. It came alongside and after considerable difficulty succeeded in taking off the men on the submarine.

ELEVEN SOLDIERS HANGED

Colonel Testifies Before Senate Committee Probing Charges.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Dec. 8.—Eleven members of the American Expeditionary Forces were hanged in France after conviction by a military court martial, Colonel Walter G. Bethel, assistant judge advocate general of the army testified today before the Senate committee investigating charges by General Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, that American soldiers were hanged without trial in France.

Colonel Bethel who was General Pershing's chief legal adviser overseas appeared before the committee after Senator Watson in an opening statement presented a number of affidavits and letters from former soldiers to support his charges.

"Did you ever see a gallows at Giverny?" Colonel Bethel was asked. "Yes," he said. "One was erected there for execution of a convicted soldier." It was at Giverny, according to information given Senator Watson by former service men that soldiers were hanged without trial.

Opening Rate Aids Shorts In Drive On Leaders.

(By Associated Press)
New York, Dec. 8.—The 5 per cent opening rate for call loans aided the shorts in their drive against stock market leaders during the morning. Motors and tobaccos eased 1 to 2 points. The market steadied before noon, buying of high grade oils, shipments, coal, rubbers and popular specialties stabilizing the list. The bond market was mixed, Liberty 3 1/2's and most of the 4 1/2's reacting while Victory 4 1/2's repeated their maximum price of the year. Foreign exchanges were strong, the British quotation rising to the highest level of the current movement.

DEATH IN PATH OF HURRICANE

Great Destruction Reported Along Newfoundland Coast. Many Vessels Wrecked.

TWO HEAVY STORMS MEET

Crews of Fighting Vessels Lost. Former United States Gun Boat Blown Across Sound to Shore.

St. John's, N. F., Dec. 8.—A north-west hurricane Tuesday brought death and disaster to this coast. Reports yesterday brought word of a large loss of life at Conception Bay, including nine men, a woman and a child, who went down with the schooner Passport at Bay Verde.

The Jean and Mary also was wrecked on Penguin Island, with a loss of seven men. She had been sailing between Cape Breton and Newfoundland ports.

A score of schooners carrying winter supplies to northern settlements were wrecked. Five fishing vessels were broken up.

The storm began on Monday and raged Tuesday at its height, bringing down telegraph lines. As a result it will be days before the full toll of the hurricane is known. From the facts at hand, property damage in excess of $100,000 was shown.

The D. P. Ingraham, a United States gunboat during the Civil War which in recent years has been towed along this coast, had the ship Jean and Mary in tow at Fogo. The row line parted in the storm, the ship was carried away. The tug itself then was blown across Hamilton sound and tossed ashore, a total wreck on Penguin Island. The Ingraham was built at Philadelphia in 1864.

Call For Aid

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 8.—The Halifax agency of the Marine and Fisheries Department, asked Tuesday night to send assistance to the freighter Bethlehem, in distress off Shippegan Island, N. B.; has no steamer available. Efforts were made yesterday to have a vessel dispatched from Charlottetown.

Two Storms Meet

New York, Dec. 8.—Weather Bureau officials here said yesterday that the storm which did severe damage along the Newfoundland Coast was evidently the result of conjunction near there of three barometrical disturbances.

One of these storms, it was asserted, traveled up the Atlantic Coast, another swept eastward over the Great Lakes and the third originated in Northeastern Canada.

HISTORIC HOME MEMORIAL

Place Where Lincoln Was Entertained To Be Memorial.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 8.—Mary Todd Lincoln's home during her childhood days and where she received the martyred president, Abraham Lincoln, will be purchased as a memorial to her and as a museum for preservation of Lincoln furniture, manuscripts, and relics now in Kentucky, if plans of a group of interested citizens materialize.

The old Todd home on West Main street formerly was a saloon and now is a soft drink stand. It is for sale for the first time in years and business interests are trying to get it for some new building. Those wishing to secure it for historical purposes have obtained an option on the property and are seeking funds necessary to complete the transaction.

The building is well preserved and the quaint interior could be easily restored, it is said. The historic rooms where Mary Todd spent her childhood and where she received Mr. Lincoln are much the same as when she married and when she visited her old home after marrying Mr. Lincoln.

TO HELP RUSSIA

Declare Hundreds of Them In Constantinople Are Starving.

Constantinople, Dec. 8.—The Constantinople Relief Fund, which has taken over a large part of the charity work hitherto done by the American Red Cross, has addressed an urgent plea to the people of Constantinople in behalf of the destitute Russian refugees.

The Committee points out that there are more than 17,000 Russians within the city who are literally starving and that to abandon them would be an act of the basest inhumanity. The Committee explains that the present constitutes the final phase of Russian refugee relief. Of the enormous number of refugees—totaling in all about 200,000—who have passed through the hands of Allied authorities, there now remain some 35,000. Even these it is hoped to dispose of satisfactorily in the near future.

MELLON STILL OPPOSES BONUS

Treasurer of Nation Asks Further Cuts of Surtaxes on Large Incomes.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Further revision of the tax laws with a reduction of the maximum income surtax rate to 20 or 25 per cent and adjustment of the rates on business profits and estates is suggested by Secretary Mellon in his first annual report, transmitted yesterday to Congress.

The Secretary also announces that the Treasury's policy with respect to deferment of the soldiers' bonus is unchanged and urges prompt refunding of the ten billions of foreign loans as "one of the outstanding needs of the present economic situation."

Mr. Mellon also informs Congress that the maturity within the next 18 months of $6,750,000,000 of the short-dated debt "makes it imperative that the Government pursue a policy of the utmost economy and avoid new undertakings that would throw additional burdens on the Treasury and embarrass the funding operations" with respect to the floating debt.

Stresses Revenue Revision

Revenue revision is the subject upon which the Secretary lays the most stress. He says the changes in the tax law voted by Congress last month "give substantial relief to business and industry and restore in some measure the freedom of business transactions, but our system of taxation still requires careful and thoughtful consideration."

"It is of vital importance," Mr. Mellon declares, "that adjustment be made in our scheme of taxation whereby the burden will not fall unduly, either directly or indirectly, upon any particular class and at the same time will not seriously interfere with productive industry and the general prosperity of the country."

HOLD SOCIAL EVENT

After the routine business was disposed of, a class of seven candidates were initiated into the order. The degree team wore their new costumes and paraphernalia for the first time. Twenty-four members comprised the degree team.

An orchestra furnished music and the members were provided with refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cakes, ice cream, and coffee.

RELEASING PRISONERS

(By Associated Press) Dublin, Dec. 8.—Announcement was made today at the military headquarters here that if the Anglo-Irish agreement is ratified the crown forces would be removed from Ireland within a month.

By this afternoon all the prisoners in the Kilmainham jail had been released. The 1,500 prisoners in the Ballykilner camp will be released tomorrow.

BELIEVE ULSTER IN AGREEMENT

Premier Craig Says Peace is in Sight if Harmony Continues.

INTERNEED IRISH FREED

King George Calls For Release of All Political Prisoners Who Have Not Been Tried.

Belfast, Dec. 8.—In a message from Sir James Craig received by Lady Craig at Ratheld, County Down, yesterday, the Ulster Premier said: "It now appears to me that peace may possibly be within sight if all work together to that end with patience and good will."

Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, told the Ulster Parliament yesterday he did not think it expedient to make any statement with regard to the details of the new Irish proposals, as there were ambiguities here and there in the document.

To Seek Further Information

Also, the Premier stated, there was a considerable amount of further information he must have in his possession before he could come to the right conclusions.

He said he did not believe settlement and peace would be furthered by rushing tactics, and added there would be a party meeting on Thursday after which, if his colleagues so desired, he would cross to London in order to bring to a very definite point some of those questions which seemed to him to require explanation.

Criticises Birkenhead

Sir James strongly criticised Lord Chancellor Birkenhead's reference in his speech at Birmingham Tuesday to the action of the Ulster Parliament in Tyrone, and warned the Imperial ministers against "irritating the Ulster Royalists" by such speeches as those of Lord Birkenhead.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, yesterday spoke of the new Anglo-Irish agreement as "a fair enough settlement." He declined to make any further comment.

Interned Irish Released

London, Dec. 8.—King George yesterday issued a proclamation releasing all political prisoners interned in Ireland.

Approximately 3400 interned persons are affected by the release order, which relates to all persons under internment as distinguished by those who have been tried and convicted, it was stated by the Irish office.

The following announcement was made from Downing street:

"In view of the agreement signed Tuesday between the British and Irish delegations His Majesty has approved the release forthwith of all Irish interned under Article XIV. B of the Restoration of Order in Ireland act. Instructions to this effect have been given."

ARMY PRACTICING STRICT ECONOMY

Officials Cutting Corners in Effort to Keep Cost at Low Point.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The time was when, in popular fancy, no good soldier ever looked at his heels. That belief, fostered by countless jokesmiths, is due to be rudely shattered when the doughboys of the present army offer their testimony, according to officials of the War Department. The good soldier of the present day is giving careful attention to not only his shoes, heels and soles, but to every item of his equipment, they declare—and all because of the wave of economy that has swept over the military arm of the service.

In its effort to live within the reduced appropriations granted by the present Congress the army has been forced to apply economies all along the line, and the thrift habit is being impressed on the rank and file in a manner calculated to leave an abiding impression.

Some saving soul suggested that the item of shoes was one that might easily be subjected to a little pruning. The doughboys were scuffing out their sole leather at a rate that threatened to prove ruinous, he demonstrated, and it was suggested that the man behind the gun be made personally responsible for the state of his foot wear. The suggestion was adopted, and as translated to the rank and file it runs about as follows:

Private will see that their shoe soles are in good order—that they are turned in for replacement at the first sign of a hole in the outer layer of leather. And they will make this shoe inspection every day, on penalty of having to pay themselves for any replacements where the old shoe turned in to the Quartermaster's Department is too greatly worn to permit its repair.

Remember this slogan: "Prevent Forest Fires—It Pays."

JEALOUSY WILL NOT STOP LORENZ

Animosity of Medical Profession Nearly Caused Great Surgeon to Leave.

New York, Dec. 8.—Although keenly hurt by the cold shoulder which he said the medical profession of this country had turned toward him, Dr. Adolph Lorenz, famous Austrian surgeon, indicated last night that he would probably carry on his free clinics for cripples here. He had announced earlier in the day that he would abandon them and return to Vienna.

"I'll stay, if they don't throw me out," he said last night. Dr. Lorenz attributed the feeling against him to animosities bred by the war, and said it was general within the medical profession of the United States. The people as a whole, though, had been wonderful beyond description in their reception of his work, the surgeon added.

"Whether I go home to Vienna or stay and do what I can is entirely up to the Health Commissioner of New York," he declared tonight.

He'll Stay Copeland Declares

When Health Commissioner Copeland was told of this, he said he would see to it that Dr. Lorenz remained. He said he would call together a group of orthopedic surgeons and map out a channel for the Austrian visitor's activities that would shield him from exploitation and ensure warm and proper co-operation.

"He has brought to the surface thousands of cripples and other sufferers in New York, hundreds of whom can be helped by treatment," said Dr. Copeland. "It has been a magnificent work, but Dr. Lorenz has been exploited by wrongful persons, and we will see that it does not happen again."

It was Dr. Copeland who first sought to bring about a change of heart in Dr. Lorenz upon greeting the surgeon this morning a moment after he had announced his plan to return to Vienna. The health commissioner asked him not to be disturbed by the "type of citizens we call damn fools."

Later, while on his way to a clinic where scores awaited the touch of his fingers, Dr. Lorenz was asked if he felt galled.

"Yes, no," the gray-bearded visitor said, puffing at a cigarette.

eight would submit to an operation or treatment.

Fear Operations

The parents of several other children refused to allow operations to take place and one father emphatically declared that he would not permit an operation upon his child, in spite of the doctor's advice. The child, Dr. Rugh stated, had a chance of walking after an operation although at the present time it was compelled to crawl on its hands and knees.

Eight Consented

Eight parents, however, consented to having their children operated upon and these operations were performed this morning. Of these eight, two of the operations would not be surgical but merely a resetting of the bones and the use of a plaster cast for several weeks.

The clinic was declared a success by the Red Cross authorities in the number of children examined. A disappointing feature of the clinic however, was the fact that while at least twenty could be helped if an operation had been agreed to by the parents, while only eight would give the needed permission.

The opportunity of having a specialist here may not present itself for many years, the authorities state, and it was hoped many more parents would have consented to operations at this time.

The results of the operations performed this morning will not be known for some time.

DEATH RATE LOWER

Will Be Recorded As One Of Healthiest Years.

(By Associated Press)

New York, Dec. 8.—There were 153,000 fewer deaths in the United States and Canada in 1921 than in 1920, said Robert Lynn Cox, 3rd vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, in an address before the 15th annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents here today.

Mr. Cox presented statistics based upon official records of companies transacting 80 per cent of the life insurance business which he said, may "indicate the dawn of a material lengthening of the span of human life in the two countries." The figures show that this year will be entered on the records as "the healthiest ever experienced." Motor-driven vehicles, however, are exacting an alarmingly growing toll of victims.

TABLER GETS THREE YEARS

BLAME TWO FOR HEAD-ON CRASH

Committee Investigating Wreck Makes Complete Report of Findings.

Philadelphia, Dec. 8.—Investigation of details entering into the fatal crash of Philadelphia & Reading Railway trains near Bryn Athyn Monday morning, carried out on the scene of the wreck by officials of the railroad, members of the Public Service Commission, and members of the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday, disclosed the following:

The regular routine of train crews on the Newtown branch was disrupted, causing a change in procedure which led to the confusion of trains and the head-on collision, by the breaking down on Monday of the block signal at Huntingdon Valley, the first station below Bryn Athyn, where the down-coming milk train No. 154, customarily passed the upbound local No. 151.

There is no signal of any kind on the tortuous single track line between Bryn Athyn and Churchville, a distance of 5.6 miles.

All signals on the Newtown branch from Huntingdon Valley northward are of the semaphore type, operated by hand by the station agents.

The Bryn Athyn siding is equipped with a derailling device, which had to be closed to permit the milk train to pass and opened again before the local could get off the siding and proceed north. The crew of the local pulled the switch themselves and proceeded even before orders had been completed. Both the engineer and conductor were equally responsible for this breach of regulations.

X-RAYS SAVE CHILD'S LIFE

Used in Removal of Coins Slowly Choking Four-Year-Old to Death.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 8.—The life of Andrew Boras, aged 4, of New Castle, who since last Sunday had been slowly choking to death, was saved at the Milliken Hospital yesterday when a penny and a nickel, which had been swallowed by the child, were removed from his throat by surgeons. The operation could be performed only with the aid of a fluoroscope in attachment with an X-ray machine, which permitted the shadow of the coins to be seen in the esophagus. A bronoscope was placed down the dying child's throat and the coins extracted from the level of the sixth cervical vertebra. The child was conscious during the operation, the throat having been cocaineized.

JEWS TO CONTINUE EUROPEAN AID

Meet in Philadelphia This Month to Discuss Re-construction Work.

Jewish leaders at the Chicago Conference held this autumn decided to carry on reconstruction work in Europe, and divided the country into zones for the purpose of effective organization.

Doctor Cyrus Adler, Chairman of Zone 3, of which Philadelphia is the central point, announces a conference for the zone, to be held December 18 at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. It will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue all day.

Invitations have been sent to about 100 towns and cities in the zone, which includes eastern Pennsylvania, western and southern New Jersey, Delaware, District of Columbia and Maryland. Over 300 representatives are expected to attend, to consult with men who have served here and abroad for the relief of war-ridden countries. Among the distinguished men who will address the meeting are Louis Marshall, Chairman of the American Jewish Relief Committee; Felix Warburg, Chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee; Colonel Herbert Lehman, Chairman of the Reconstruction Committee; Lieutenant James Becker, who served two years in eastern Europe with Herbert Hoover; Dr. Boris Bogen, director of Jewish War Relief in Poland for three years; Brigadier-General Davis, who presided over the Chicago conference, and David A. Brown, Chairman of the Campaign Committee.

Jacob D. Lit, Jules E. Mastbaum, Jacob Billikopf, Albert Greenfield, and Louis Wolf are acting with Dr. Adler on the committee to arrange for the conference.

Judge Mayer Sulzberger is so fully persuaded of the need that he has in advance sent a check for $1000.00.

ter Company be granted permission to delay extending their water lines on Broadway and Buford streets as agreed upon during the summer. Mr. Swope said the company could make these extensions at less cost and inconvenience next spring and requested an extension of time be granted the company. The Council took no action, but it was understood the company would not be compelled to make the extensions during the winter months. It was also voted to pay the Water Company $500 on account for fire plug service.

A list of ninety properties on which poplar trees stand was presented to the Council by commissioner Newman. In most cases these trees are near enough sanitary sewer lines as to make them a nuisance and in accordance with an ordinance it was unanimously voted that all such trees, contiguous to a sewer line be cut down by the property owner. In case he refuses the trees shall be cut down by the Borough and the cost charged to the property owner.

The question of whether the Borough is going to pay for repairs in drains and sewers not a part of the sanitary sewer system was discussed at length, with the result that a bill for such repairs was tabled until the next meeting.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance in the general fund of $197.30 and a balance in the special fund of $2845.75.

HOLD FATHER AND SON FOR MURDER

Benner Being Tried For Deed of Juniata County Constable.

Mifflintown, Pa., Dec. 8.—To acquit Charles Benner, now being tried for the murder of Constable Thomas Ullsh, of Liverpool, on the night of September 1, when Ullsh, in company with State Trooper Carl C. Wilson went into Turkey Valley to arrest members of the Benner gang for larceny, the defense will have to overcome statements Charles Benner is alleged to have made at the home of Mark Markle, of Stony Run, whose home it is claimed Charles Benner fled after the murder.

Dressler Tells Story Of Shooting
William Dressler, driver of the automobile which carried State Trooper Earl Wilson and Constable Thomas Ullsh to the Benner home on the fateful night of the shooting occupied the stand during the morning session. District Attorney John J. Patterson brought out that the car was occupied by the driver, Wilson and Ullsh when it left Liverpool that the same trio occupied it when it passed through Millerstown and again at Donnelly's Mills, the last village on the road to Turkey Valley. He sought to discredit the "fourth party or mysterious stranger" theory of the defense.

Get Out Or I'll Kill You
Dressler told of the entrance into the Benner home and said that Charles Benner shouted, "Get out or I'll kill you." He said Trooper Wilson stepped back from Danle Benner, who was being arrested, and facing Charles and Roy Jones, ordered them to throw up their hands. A second time he gave the command, Dressler said, and when it was not heeded fired over their heads. As shots started to fly Dressler said he heard Constable Ullsh say: "They got me," and ran from the porch and soon after saw Wilson staggering out with the body of Constable Ullsh. When the trooper was carrying the body of the constable, Dressler said he saw Charles Benner in an upstairs window firing at the pair. The trooper shouted for Dressler and also called to Charles Benner to help him carry the constable to the machine. Benner refused, Dressler said.

BUSINESS SHOWS STRENGTH

Stimulation in Building And Its Related Industries.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Continued improvement in business conditions in October, reflected notably in increased output of iron and steel and textile products and also a widespread stimulation in building and its related industries, and was reported by the Department of Commerce yesterday in its "Survey of current business."

While prices continued to decline slightly during October, the survey showed, the relative stability of prices as compared with preceding months and the improved banking situation as evidenced by smaller loans and lower interest rates were cited as conditions favorable to continued business improvement.

With the exception of metals the quantitative production in the important industries was shown by the survey to be equal or greater than the before-the-war average of 1913.

THOUSANDS ILL ALL THE TIME

Average Person Sick Seven Days Each Year, Figures Show.

There are about 200,000 persons at all times ill in Pennsylvania, a figure based on the health report of Herbert Hoover's committee on elimination of waste.

On an average each person suffers an annual loss from illness of seven days.

The number of persons continually sick has been considerably reduced in the last decade and further improvement can be made by help from the following groups:

Teachers—By teaching children simple rules of health; by instructing them as to the nature, prevention and cure of diseases and by keeping classrooms well ventilated.

Physicians—By seeking in every way to prevent as well as to treat disease and by insisting that patients be examined at least once a year.

Clergymen—By distributing literature and educating people concerning diseases and by co-operating with health agencies.

Parents—By keeping the home clean and well ventilated; by observing the laws of personal hygiene; by providing sufficient and nourishing food and by keeping children away from infected persons.

Workers—By insisting on well ventilated working places; by avoiding dust and dampness; by demanding proper sanitary appliances and facilities in shop and community and by avoiding overwork.

Elimination of unnecessary illness through health supervision and periodic physical examination would mean a net economic gain in Pennsylvania of more than $100,000,000 besides "excess dividends in health, happiness, satisfaction in living, prevention of pain, prevention of sorrow, and prevention of discontentment."

OPERATES IN CANDLE LIGHT

Surgeon Saves Lives of Two When Electric Illumination Fails.

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 8.—A test of the nerve of an operating surgeon was had by Dr. George W. Miller, when, at the critical stage of playing the nasal stitches, following a Caesarean operation at the Montgomery Hospital last night, the electric lights went out, leaving the operating room in complete darkness. No gas was available and quick action in the delicate operation was necessary.

The assisting nurses hurriedly obtained candles, by the flickering light of which the nimble fingers of the surgeon worked, completing the operation, which saved the life of a woman and her girl baby as well. Such an experience never has been known to happen before in the history of the hospital.

ROB BANK; LOCK IN PATRONS

Six Armed Bandits Escape With $20,000 in Cash and Bonds.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 8.—Six armed bandits yesterday afternoon robbed a branch of the Grand Rapids Savings Bank, locked three employees and patrons in the vault, and escaped with cash and Liberty Bonds estimated at approximately $20,000.

Four of the bandits narrowly escaped death when their automobile, which was being driven at terrific speed, crashed into a freight train at a crossing. The car was wrecked. The four bandits crawled from the wreckage and scattered.

Later it was reported at police headquarters that two armed men held up an automobile driver in the vicinity of the robbery and forced him to drive them from the city.

"It is not usual for young ladies to be so far north." His endeavor at gallantry was obvious.

"I am with my father," said the girl, looking at Rainey, enjoying the situation.

"Where I go she goes," said Lund. And looked in turn at her with a selfish in his double suggestion. He, too, was playing the game, gambling, believing in his luck, reckless, now he had set the board.

"They passed through the corridor. Lund opened up the staid room, and then the gallery. It was orderly, and there was a moaning figure in Tamada's bunk, a tossing figure with a head bound in a red bandanna above the black face and neck that showed above the blankets. The eyes were closed. The black hands, showing lighter palms, plucked at the coverings.

"Delirious," said Lund. "Serves him right. He's a rotten cook."

"Have you all the medicines you need?" asked Ito. "I can send our surgeon."

"I can manage," returned Rainey.

Virgin found to the sacks in the schooner's strong room.

They worked at first in alternating shifts of four hours, by day and night, under the sun, the moon, the stars and the flaming aurora. The crust was drifted here and there where it had frozen into conglomerate, and exploded by dynamite, carefully placed so as not to dislodge the masses of ice that overhung the schooner. Fires to thaw out the ground were unavailable for sheer lack of fuel; there was no driftwood between these forestless shores. What fuel could be spared was conserved for use under the boilers that melted ice to provide water for the cradles and flumes, and help to cook the meals that Tamada prepared out-of-doors for the workers.

Buckets of coffee, steves, and thick soups of peas and lentils, masses of beans with plenty of fat pork, these were what they craved after hours of tremendous endeavor. Despite the cold, they sweated profusely at their tasks stripping off over-garments as they picked and shoveled or crowded out the rich gravel.

Through all of it Lund was supreme as working superintendent. There was no job that he could not, did not, handle better than any two of them, and though Rainey could see a shrinkage, or a compression, of his bulk, as day by day he called upon it for heroic service, he never seemed to tire. "Got to keep 'em at it," he would say in the cabin. "No time to lose, an' the odds all against us, in a way. Barring Luck. That's what we got to count on, but we don't want them thinkin' that. If the weather don't break—an' break just right—as soon as we've cleaned up, we're stung. Though I'll blast a way out of this shore ice, if it comes to the worst. I saved out some dynamite on purpose."

With Lund handling all of the men as a unit, it was not long before the shovels began to scrape on the bare rock that underlay the gravel at tide edge, and work swiftly took to the end of the U. The outdoors kitchen had been established on top of the promontory between the schooner and the beach, a primitive arrangement of big pots slung from tripods over fires kindled on a flat area that was partly sheltered from the sea and the prevailing winds by outcrops of weathered lava.

At dawn the men trooped from the schooner to be fed and warmed, and then they flung themselves at their task. The more they got out the more there was in it for them. But Lund was their overlord, their better, and they knew it. Only Deiming worked with one hand the handle of the force bellows, or fed the fires, and sneered.

On the fifteenth day, with the work better than half done, with more than a ton of actual gold in colors, that ranged from flour dust to nuggets, in the strong-room, the weather began to change. It misted continually, and Lund, rejoicing, prophesied the breaking up of the cold snap.

By the eighteenth day a regular Chinook was blowing, melting the sharper outlines of the icy crags and pinnacles, and providing streams of moisture that, in the nights now gradually growing longer, glazed every yard of rock with peril.

GETTYSBURG HIGH WINS OPENER HERE

Overran Biglerville High by Score of 35-12; D. Oyler Starving For Locals.

Playing whirl-wind ball, the Gettysburg High School completely overran the Biglerville High School, Wednesday afternoon, in the college gymnasium, by the score of 35-12. The local teams kept the ball much of the time in their territory and the score would have been larger, but for the close playing of the Biglerville guards. Gettysburg was able to score almost at will during the first period and closed it with the score, 22-5. Due to the sensational playing of Scott, C. Bream and Weikert, the Biglerville lads were able to score only two field goals while the Maroon and White team scored 15.

The first half was featured by the clever shooting of Oyler and the fine passing of the entire Gettysburg team. Knouse of Biglerville played a good game while Minter and Gilbert came close seconds. For Gettysburg Oyler, C. Bream, Buehler and Captain Scott played the stellar roles. The Biglerville team tightened up the second half and although Gettysburg had many chances to score the ball always rolled the wrong way. Field goals for Gettysburg were made by Oyler 4; Buehler 3; Scott 3; C. Bream 2; G. Bream 2; Miller 1. For Biglerville Minter 1; Gilbert 1. The lineup: Gettysburg Position Biglerville Oyler forward Knouse Buehler forward Minter G. Bream Center Gilbert Scott guard Oyler C. Bream guard Fidler Substitutions: Weikert for Scott; Scott for G. Bream; Miller for Buehler; G. Bream for Oyler. Referee: Flagle (Gettysburg). Timekeeper: G. Scharf. Time of halves: 20 minutes. Fouls: Scott, 5 out of 14 attempts; Minter, 8 out of 18 attempts.

BIGLERVILLE IS BUMPED AGAIN

Boys Across The Mountain Win as County Team Misses Easy Shots.

Biglerville High got bumped again on Tuesday evening after journeying over the mountain to Mount Holly Springs when the Big Five of that town won in an interesting game by the score of 26 to 13.

The local countains could not locate the basket although they had many easy shots, due to extra good passing and floor work. Carey starred at guard and his defensive work kept the score much lower than it might have been. Knouse and Minter also played well for Biglerville. William at guard for Mount Holly caged several long shots which brought the crowd to its feet. The score:

TWO DOES COST HUNTERS $5,000

Game Warden Insists Each Member of Camps Must Pay $100.

Lewisburg, Pa., Dec. 8.—Two doe killed in the Union-Snyder district will cost two parties of hunters a total of $5,000, it was asserted here yesterday by Miles Reeder, State game protector of this district.

It will cost the cooper's Mill camp $3,300 for the killing of one doe, and another camp in the Buffalo mountains, in Union county, a total of $1,700 for the killing of the second. The State game protector asserts he will insist upon a fine of $100 for each member of the two camps when the cases are brought up for a hearing.

Mr. Reeder stated that he visited the Cooper's Mill camp when the members were feasting upon one of the doe. He said that the remainder had been hidden in a shanty at the camp. This camp is located in Center county just over the Snyder county line. The third doe was killed by another hunter this week.

The hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace Gets, of Mifflinburg, after the close of the hunting season. Mr. Reeder also stated yesterday that he will have licenses revoked from some of the men. A total of eighty buck deer and four bears have been killed thus far.

EX-BANDIT ROBBED

Hotel Thief Gets $150 From Noted Robber.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 8.—Al Jennings, reformed bandit, sought the police yesterday. He had lost $150 at the hands of a thief, who had gone through his room during a brief absence from a Twelfth street hotel.

Jennings' great reputation of a former day for nerve and a quick draw does not intimidate those who in this modern day still seek other folks' money. A few months ago Jennings actually was "stuck up" on a New York street—a dark street. "You shouldn't," remonstrated Jennings, seeking to cultivate a spirit of the fraternity. "I am Al Jennings, of Oklahoma." "I'm Woodrow Wilson," answered the robber. "A little higher please." A matter of the movies brought Jennings to Kansas City.

The Missing Fortune

By MURIEL BLAIR.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

Because John Davis was hungry and had to work, and because a big wind storm had blown down some barns and fences and nearly half the trees in Glenville, thereby offering that individual an opportunity to labor, sunshine came suddenly into the life of pretty, Patient Ethel Moore.

She needed it, poor girl, and more than deserved it, if ever a loving, helpful daughter and a true and earnest sweetheart did. Ever since her mother had died Ethel had led a hard, slave-like existence. They had not always lived in Glenville. It was the lure of chance and a fortune that had lured William Moore, her father, to abandon a fairly prosperous store business in a city 50 miles distant, to fill out, as he anticipated, the glowing dream of his life. He had always longed for a farm, and when he was called urgently to the bedside of his dying brother, Robert, he felt certain that at last the coveted acme of his ambition was in sight.

Robert Moore, reputed a rich man, died before his brother reached him. In his will he left William everything. When "everything" was materialized into coherency, to the surprise of his neighbors and the bitter disappointment of the legatees, the estate comprised only the old home, with its weather-beaten porch and boarded-up cupola, dreary and gloomy in the extreme.

"The place will do to live in," moodily decided William Moore, "but what has ever become of the stocks and bonds and money everybody knew my brother had six months before he died?"

William Moore's wife died, he sold out his business and then lost his cash in an unwise speculation.

Then the shoe began to pinch. He had a small house in the city, which brought in a certain income, but not enough to cover living expenses. Ethel learned to do dressmaking and her little earnings helped to keep the wolf from the door.

It was when Archie Winston came into her life that the days seemed worth while and the nights were filled with sweet dreams. The old man had grown sour and selfish, and would not hear of a change in their domestic relations.

"I may get something yet out of my unfortunate investment," he was wont to say.

It was several days after the big storm and the fallen and hanging limbs of the giant trees surrounding the Moore homestead had not been cleared away.

When John Davis came along one morning Ethel listened to his application for work with interest and sympathy.

"I've been sick for a long time, Miss Moore," he declared, "and not able to take a steady job for some time ahead, I'll trim out that hanging stuff up around the house for fifty cents."

"Very well, Mr. Davis," she agreed after a moment or two of wavering thought. "It isn't much to pay, though."

"It's a lot to me," sighed Davis, thinking of the hungry mouths at home. "You'll get a blessing for this," he added.

Ethel went into the house with thoughts of the struggling brood of children of John Davis in her mind. She remembered an old trunk in the attic filled with odds and ends, and wondered if she would be likely to find anything of service to the Davis household.

Several old garments she discovered, might be utilized. She was kneeling by the trunk, engrossed in her task, when a most unearthly hubbub drove her to her feet with a shock.

"Oh, dear! what can have happened?" gasped Ethel breathlessly.

Then, as she dashed outside, she saw her father standing in the garden, waving his arms frantically.

"You've ruined the looks of the house!" he was storming at John Davis.

The latter sat on the ground staring vacantly at a mass of wreckage near by. It was the shattered remnants of the old cupola.

Mr. Moore advanced to where the ruins of the cupola lay. Ethel heard him utter a strange cry. She ran towards him as he stooped over and picked something up.

It was a tin box. Her father lifted its catch, threw back the cover and nearly fell over as a great conviction illumined his mind.

"Quick, daughter!" he panted. "Papers—and money! If it should be my brother's missing fortune at last!"

It was, at last, and in full. The hiding place of the missing fortune had come to light through Ethel Moore's kind deed. It meant so much to William Moore that he seemed to grow younger in an hour. He sent John Davis home feeling rich, and he told Archie and Ethel that evening that they might arrange to have the old homestead renovated for a wedding.

No Choice.

"Now suppose," said a Canadian temperance lecturer, "I had a pail of water and a pail of beer and brought on a horse, which of the two would be taken?"

"He'd take the water," came a voice from the gallery.

"Exactly," said the lecturer. "But why should he take the water?"

"Because you'd bent him to the beer."—Boston Transcript.

FEWER UNEMPLOYED

Slight decrease in the total of unemployed in the State during the last two weeks of November is shown in the reports of the State employment officers in the various districts of the State Commissioner Clifford B. Connelley, of the Department of Labor and Industry, in making public reports Wednesday, announced that weather conditions, the holidays and completion of 1921 work were responsible largely for the little change in the situation. The total unemployment is reported as 269,322, a decrease of 2,108 from previous reports.

The totals reported by the various districts on December 1, were: Altoona, 13,020; Erie, 13,100; Harrisburg, 11,292; Johnstown, 9,260; McKeesport, 3,940; New Kensington, 3,750; Philadelphia, 128,000; Philadelphia women, 11,600; Pittsburgh, 51,400; Scranton, 17,725; Williamsport, 6,285.

The reports indicate an improvement in the building situation with a rush to complete buildings before the New Year. The mining situation shows that the mild season has produced some effect. Many railroadmen are reported out of work, although men are being called back in most sections.

After the address of Mr. Landes, the committee in charge of the awarding of the Christian Flag to the congregation having the largest percentage of adults present at the meeting, announced that Fairfield Lutheran had 60 per cent of their adults present. The number present was 50 with a total of 85 on the rolls.

St. James Lutheran, of town had the largest number of adult workers present. The number was 96 but the total enrollment is 225. Other congregations in the county were well represented.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Boyd, who departed this life two years ago today, December 8th, 1919.

December days again are here,
The saddest of the year.
The day that our precious mother
The pride we hold so dear.
We feel so sad and lonely
When her voice we do not hear.
For no words were ever sweeter,
Than the word of Mother Dear.

Can we help but shed a tear, when her vacant chair,
We see once our home was bright and happy.

Oh, how sad and lonely today for our dear, loving Mother,
Two years have passed away, gone but not forgotten.
By her children.

IN MEMORIAM

Heavenward flew.
We'll not forget you,
Our dear little son,
So tiny and so wee,
We'll meet you in heaven
Then together we'll be.

THE COAT DRESS
PREDOMINATES

A striking effect is gained in this coat dress of fine black silk serge. It is a favorite because it is both simple and practical. The long-waisted tunic blouse has an inset vest of self-material trimmed with bands of black and silver braid. The braid reappears on the pointed ends of the tunic and on the flare sleeves. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch material and 6 yards of braid.

these same men was held in the chapel of St. James at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon. After a devotional service by Rev. Harry Daniels, Mr. Myers told of the three-fold work of the adult division. The three divisions into which his subject was divided were the Adult Bible Class, home extension work and teacher training service. Mr. Myers told that the home extension department now superceded the Home Department and that it was instrumental in bringing Sunday school work before the aged and infirm; those living at a distance from the church, and those who work on Sunday so that the connection between these people and the Sunday school will not be lost.

Mr. Landes also spoke at the session which was attended by about 75 delegates. He told the meeting that the modern home was morally loose and that the parents of today if properly taught can instill a christian spirit into the home which will be reflected in the lives and conduct of their children.

Song services were also conducted at this session by Mr. Blackmore and his son.

DREAMS IN MURDER TRIAL

Mrs. Oberchain Predicted Kennedy's Death, Woman Testifies.

Los Angeles, Dec. 8.—When the trial of Arthur C. Burch for the alleged murder of J. Belton Kennedy was resumed in the Superior Court yesterday, the State called Mrs. Mary A. Bailiff, of Los Angeles, who testified that last July, before Kennedy's death, Mrs. Madalynne Oberchain said she feared "Belton would soon pass out," and also that she "could almost put her hand on the place where it would happen."

Mrs. Oberchain was indicted jointly with Burch and is to go to trial following his case, according to present plans. Mrs. Bailiff said she was in a beauty parlor here last July when Mrs. Oberchain came in and talked with her. Kennedy was shot early in August. Mrs. Bailiff testified she had told Mrs. Oberchain of a dream in which she had seen the latter seated by a country road or boulevard. She testified that after this conversation Mrs. Oberchain began to cry and said: "I know exactly what was meant," and then said Mrs. J. D. Kennedy, mother of the slain man, had taken the position she would rather see her son dead than married to Mrs. Oberchain.

PLAN BUREAU WORK

Fairfield Community Interested In Hog Breeding And Feeding.

Plans for farm bureau work in the Fairfield community were discussed Wednesday night at a meeting held in the high school building at which Farm Agents Paul Hoffman and S. B. Shenk were present.

It was decided to promote a hog breeders' association and to continue the corn variety tests conducted on the farm of Charles A. Landis last year. An effort will also be made to increase the membership in the Fairfield-Boys' Pig Breeding Club and to continue the poultry meetings. Interest was shown in steer feeding and a speaker will be secured to talk in Fairfield on that subject. Those interested in the subject were told Dr. H. H. Hayner, of the Animal Husbandry Department at State College, would address the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau in Gettysburg, January 5, on the subject of steer feeding. H. D. Munroe, of State College, will also speak at that meeting

Money For Christmas
Gettysburg National Bank 1921
Christmas Club

When you read this, our 1921 "Christmas Club" checks will be ready for mailing and will go out in a few days—bringing to hundreds of members a fund where-with to purchase their gifts without one moment of worry or sacrifice. The money has been saved throughout the year—hardly missed from week to week—but ever so welcome right now.

Our 1922 Club is now forming and the plan is simple: you pay so much a week for 50 weeks—and then just two weeks before Christmas, you receive our check for the entire amount you have saved, plus 4 per cent interest.

It is not only a feasible way to have Christmas money but just as convenient for a vacation fund, for taxes, for fuel, for any purpose you might choose to use it.

We would be glad to explain it fully upon your request.

Sincerely yours,

I. L. Taylor

HORSE STILL SUPREME

Although Farm Tractors Are Growing In Numbers.

That the use of the tractor on the farms of Pennsylvania is becoming more popular is indicated by the fact that on November 1, of the present year there were approximately 8,500 tractors in use throughout the state. The figures were compiled by the Bureau of Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

One year ago there were approximately 6,800 tractors on the farms of the state, an increase during the present year of 1,700. That the horse still maintains its supremacy is indicated however when it is shown that less than five per cent of the farms in Pennsylvania have tractors.

DISTRIBUTING TROUT

Half the Counties Are Stocking Streams.

Brook, brown and rainbow trout were distributed to just half the counties of the State during November, the number of fish put out being larger than in the same month in years. The fish went to the following counties: Berks, Bucks, Butler, Bradford, Cameron, Carbon, Chester, Clearfield, Cumberland, Dauphin, Elk, Erie, Forest, Franklin, Fulton, Indiana, Lancaster, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, Monroe, Mercer, Montgomery, Northampton, Northumberland, Philadelphia, Pike, Sullivan, Schuylkill, Susquehanna, Tioga, Venango, Wayne and York.

PERFECT 36 GONE

No More Eighteen-Inch Waists, According to Dressmakers.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 8—Where, oh where is the "perfect 36" of mother's girlhood? Chicago costumers and fashionable dressmakers say there simply isn't such a thing today. It may be due to fashions, especially in corsets, athletics or dieting.

The Junoesque type, too, is disappearing. Of all the shames, these days, to be a stylish stout is the most shameful.

The eighteen-inch waist went with the perfect 36, of course, and the nearest any girl comes to having an eighteen-inch waist these days is when she is about two months old, according to Chicago dressmakers.

Chicago pattern companies, it was said, have changed waistlines around. Size 36 is the best seller, but it is a 36 with a 28-inch waist.

Madame Marguerite, Chicago's leading modiste, says:

"But the figure is so much more natural today than it has been in generations. The boneless corsets, or those made of soft, pliable material, have expanded the waist, and made a straight instead of a roundly curved hipline. As for a perfect 36? Why, it would look deformed among the fashions of today."

MRS. HOYT QUILTS MOVIES

New York Society Woman Soon to Appear in Spoken Drama.

New York, Dec. 8—Mrs. Lydig Hoyt New York society woman, who recently made her debut in the motion pictures, announced last night that she soon would appear on Broadway on the legitimate stage in a drama being revived by William Faversham. She denied reports that she had left the motion-picture field for all time.

Mrs. Hoyt several years ago first began to pine for the footlights, asserting she wished to do something more in life than merely be entertained. After a success in amateur theatricals, she studied abroad under Jules Leitner.

WONDERFUL FOR SICK STOMACHS

That's what every stomach sufferer says after taking one or two doses of Dr. Orth's Great Stomach Prescription.

Everyone who tries it willingly acknowledges that it does cure indigestion, and certainly banishes dyspepsia and other Stomach distress almost instantly.

Here's one letter that will give you an idea of just how good it is: I was sick for several years, went to hospital after getting no relief from Doctors and many other remedies that I tried. Unable to work, and confined to the house, I was advised by a friend to try Doctor Orth's Stomach Remedy. I had no faith in anything any more, but I tried it to my happy surprise it did me good.

I am now perfectly well and for six months have been working every day in the blacksmith shop, eating everything I want and in perfect health.

It is with pleasure that I recommend Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy to all who suffer as I did.

Wm. Sarkey, Rock Creek, Ohio. Money back if Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy does not do what we say it will, and remember that this remarkable remedy is the prescription of a practicing physician who used it with great success in exactly such cases as yours during a period of 60 years. Get it at Peoples Drug Store.

MRS. GREEN WEAK AND FRAIL

Tells How Vinol Built Her Up And Increased Her Weight

Mrs. S. V. Green

READ HER LETTER

Emporia, Kansas.—"Bronchitis left me in a weak, run-down condition so I was too weak and frail to do my work—I took all kinds of cough syrups and tonics but did not seem to gain. One day I read about Vinol and tried it. I commenced to improve. It gave me a good appetite, it built up my wasted tissues. I gained in weight and it strengthened and toned me up generally."—Mrs. S. V. Green, 2 South State Street, Emporia, Kansas. The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the curative tissue building elements of fresh cods' livers, (without oil), together with the blood making and strength creating properties of Iron and Beef Peptones which makes Vinol without a peer for overcoming frail, weak, run-down conditions, $1.00 per bottle, guaranteed.
